Description

“Here is the first piece of Coax that we need”

This isn't the way we do it at WRCJ.

Everything is under control.

Marty greets Mayor Tedd Williams.

W8ERN, the Voice of Brighton, Michigan visited our site.

Yes, we could power the entire field day from solar power, but we would need a slightly bigger solar array.

James Taylor – KD8NHO made it to Field Day this year.

My cell phone says that the storm should pass us to the West.

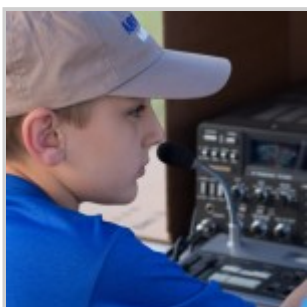

Life is good.

How many contacts have you made so far?

I really like Larry's 40 Meter vertical. I bet I can put one in my back yard and work the world.

Brantley Natter, just after his first contact.

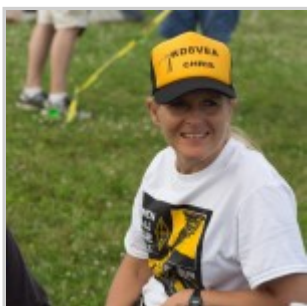

Why are you taking my picture?

Jim Miteff – N8KUE made it to Field Day. Good to see you here.

Harvey – AC8NO and his wife Diane enjoying lunch on Saturday.

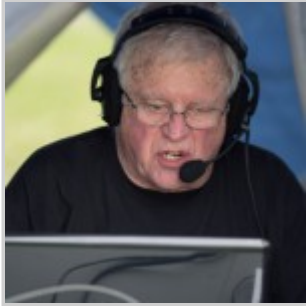

This was taken before all of the Coke.

This is a lot more fun than Nursing.

Thinking about Satellites.....

What do you mean “it’s a dupe”?

Have we solved the “World Peace” issue yet?

We should try 6 meters.

Charlene Temple – KC8PIC taking care of the visitor’s log.

Ed Roney and his wife Mary-Ann. Mary-Ann was our chef, and created GREAT meals for us at
